Preached Before the First Church and the Edwards Church, Northampton, on the Late Fast, Sept 1, 1837 Thus saith the Lord, stand ye in the ways, and see, and ask for the old paths, where is the good way, and walk therein, and ye shall find rest for your souls. Jeremiah, 6: 16. I Will not take up the time to describe the condition of the Jewish people at the time these words were addressed to them. They were in a state of great degeneracy; and were under the frown of God. The old paths which they were commanded to inquire after, were the commands and ordinances of God, - which they had in the scriptures, and in which their pious ancestors had walked. It was their wisdom and duty to return to those paths. In doing so, they were assured that they should find rest for their souls: - they should be saved from the calamities they then suffered, and from those which were to come; but neglecting to do so, they...
